The situation has resulted in various makeshifts such as "part time" system, hasty erection of flimsy structures, and use of portable buildings. Overcrowding of the schools it is shown is giving future citizens an education on sort of an installment plan.

The lack of space is due to the high price and scarcity of building material, difficulty of municipalities in obtaining funds and failure of builders to complete structures within contract time.

Only seven out of thirty-three cities report conditions near normal. In St. Paul 4,000 children are on part time.

Home Town Helps

SEES NEED OF "CITY BOOK"

Writer Points Out How Information of Great Value to Community Could Be Spread.

What are the "points" of cities? How shall we compare one with another, and, allowing for geographic, climatic and economic limitations, describe the curve of possible ascent for the one we love best? Here is where we must establish standards.

Vaguely we recognize these types in our common reference to a "factory town," a "mining town" or a "county seat" and so on. But, as to a factory town or any other kind that we want to know about and improve, how does it compare with others?

We need a little book on "What Is a City?" It should be a cheap little book that everybody can buy, a simple little book that everybody can understand, a sort of civic primer.

Suppose we live, as so many of us do, in an ordinary, medium-sized town. Our "city book" should inform us that a normal town, with the number of inhabitants our town has, should have such and such functions, adding to the simple requirements of the small village those other and more varied functions which the larger population of our town requires and can support. Such a list, for our ordinary medium-sized town, might run somewhat as follows:

Smithy, store, postoffice, school, church, dressmaker, milliner, barber, drug store, moving pictures, court house, jail, fire company, hotel, hall. These are not placed in any dogmatic order of importance, or arranged with great care.

A "pattern town" should be described suggesting the income that should be derived from legitimate taxation of its number of citizens, and showing just what advantages a town with such an income deserves and requires.—Charlotte Perkins Gilman in the Century Magazine.

All Due to the Women.

In a lecture before the Royal Institute, Prof. Arthur Keith, an eminent biologist, gave the credit for American success to the women who came over with the Pilgrim fathers. The fact that these Englishmen brought their wives with them is responsible for the remarkably sturdy condition of the American people; whereas the Spaniards who went into Central and South America left their wives behind, and the result is a hybrid race which is not the equal of the original Iberian.

Must Pay Federal Money on Job

Bismarck, Sept. 9.—Counties are not permitted to place federal road money in the general road fund and check against this fund. The highway commission has sent out notices that the federal money must be paid directly to the contractor on the specified federal aid job.

The "tornadoes" of West Africa are thunder squalls, totally different from the exceedingly violent small whirling storms that bear this name in the United States.

SEES NEED OF "CITY BOOK"

Writer Points Out How Information of Great Value to Community Could Be Spread.

What are the "points" of cities? How shall we compare one with another, and, allowing for geographic, climatic and economic limitations, describe the curve of possible ascent for the one we love best? Here is where we must establish standards.

Vaguely we recognize these types in our common reference to a "factory town," a "mining town" or a "county seat" and so on. But, as to a factory town or any other kind that we want to know about and improve, how does it compare with others?

We need a little book on "What Is a City?" It should be a cheap little book that everybody can buy, a simple little book that everybody can understand, a sort of civic primer.

Suppose we live, as so many of us do, in an ordinary, medium-sized town. Our "city book" should inform us that a normal town, with the number of inhabitants our town has, should have such and such functions, adding to the simple requirements of the small village those other and more varied functions which the larger population of our town requires and can support. Such a list, for our ordinary medium-sized town, might run somewhat as follows:

Smithy, store, postoffice, school, church, dressmaker, milliner, barber, drug store, moving pictures, court house, jail, fire company, hotel, hall.

These are not placed in any dogmatic order of importance, or arranged with great care.

A "pattern town" should be described suggesting the income that should be derived from legitimate taxation of its number of citizens, and showing just what advantages a town with such an income deserves and requires.—Charlotte Perkins Gilman in the Century Magazine.

All Due to the Women.

In a lecture before the Royal Institute, Prof. Arthur Keith, an eminent biologist, gave the credit for American success to the women who came over with the Pilgrim fathers. The fact that these Englishmen brought their wives with them is responsible for the remarkably sturdy condition of the American people; whereas the Spaniards who went into Central and South America left their wives behind, and the result is a hybrid race which is not the equal of the original Iberian.

CORDIAL WELCOME TO CITY TEACHERS

House Committee of Business and Professional Woman's Club Decorates Rooms

AT CHAMBER OF COMMERCE
Unique Features and Delightful Program Has Been Prepared by the Program Committee

The house committee of the Business and Professional Women's club was out in full force last evening, decorating the lounging rooms of the Chamber of Commerce. It is anticipated that the welcome to the teachers to be given there by the club this evening will be of a delightful nature, a number of unique features being furnished by the program committee. The young women of the club have spared no pains to make the event a success, and it is to be hoped that all the teachers of the city will accept the invitation extended to them.

The hour is 8 o'clock, the place the lounging rooms of the Chamber of Commerce, on the second floor of the Iron Exchange building.

SWEETEN UP THE HOME

Candy Day Saturday, October 8, The Occasion for Reveling in Goodies

Brainerd confectioners, progressive merchants alert to serve the trade of this community, have aligned themselves with the national observance of Candy Day, Saturday, October 8. "The Sweetest Day in the Year" is the slogan which will be used in common with other retailers of the state and nation, to call the attention of people generally to the merit of candy as sweet and wholesome food.

The idea behind the day naturally is increased sales but at the same time Brainerd confectioners will have particularly attractive candy offerings on Candy Day that will appeal in kind and in cost not only to the inveterate candy lover, but also to the man or the woman who has been hesitating over candy purchases for a year.

It is the latter class to whom the retailers here are directly appealing for they know, and the members of the households where candy is missing know that confections bring joy and mirth and happiness to the family circle.

In this effort to bring to a greater number of homes a realization not only of the merit, but of the need of candy, the retailers have decided upon the one special day not that that day will be the only day on which candy may be purchased at reasonable prices, but that Candy Day will center the attention of hundreds of people upon the fact that candy is more wholesome, is sweeter and is more enjoyable than ever, and that a bag or a box of it today will bring keenest joy to all the family for the interest has been aroused and their sweet tooth stimulated.

Candy Day in Brainerd will have direct appeal to the man who hasn't taken home a bag of candy in a year; to the mother whose youngsters have been beseeching her for quite some time for it, and for the young man whose sweetheart has been wondering what he does with his money.

Original displays are planned by all the stores interested and if Candy Day isn't the sweetest day in the year in every Brainerd home it will be because attractive displays and alluring prices have no appeal.

LOW SHOES AGAIN IN FAVOR

Present Indications Point to Strap Effects for the Coming Fall and Winter.

Low shoes had such a vogue all last year that high boots even for the most severe winter weather had only a moderate call. According to present indications the same conditions will hold good for the coming fall and winter season. Strap effects will continue to be in high favor. The fancy for color and different leather combinations will also be a feature of next season's footwear.

The short vamp shoe will be a leader for fall and toes are to be more rounded than those of the present season.

The simplicity of styles offered for gowns, suits and other items of outer apparel during the past few seasons has served to emphasize the importance of smart and novel shoes, hats and other accessories. By using good judgment in selecting the minor items, any woman may be well dressed at comparatively small cost.

But be sure the shoes you select are becoming to you. One type of shoe looks well on one pair of feet, but fall to suit another type.

These Leaders Listed as Founders Of Plan to Give Nation's Women $3,500,000 Civic Center at Capital

Erection of a $3,500,000 civic home in Washington, in which every American woman of good standing in her community will be invited to have a share, is the plan of the Woman's National Foundation. That the plan is sound is guaranteed by the distinguished women already enrolled as Founder-Donors. Of this long list, every name of which represents a contribution of at least $1,000 to this enterprise, probably no members have finer records of public service than Mrs. John Hays Hammond and Mrs. James Carroll Frazer.

Mrs. Hammond, whose husband represented President Taft at the coronation of King George V of England, was chairman of the Militia of Mercy and Governor of New York State for the Woman's Naval Service during the war. In peace times she is identified with all civic and welfare movements. Mrs. Hammond is a vice-president of the Foundation, one aim of which is the teaching of subjects conducive to better citizenship among the country's women.

Mrs. James Carroll Frazer, who is a member of the Executive Committee of the Woman's National Foundation, was chairman of the Navy League Comforts Committee during the war and now heads that committee which aims to memorialize the fighters of Belleau Wood. Those interested in becoming members of the Foundation, the basic entrance fee of which is but $1.00 for non-residents, should communicate with Mrs. C. C. Calhoun, President, Woman's National Foundation, Connecticut Avenue, N. W., Washington, D. C.

SOME WOULD ANSWER NEVER

French Law Wants to Know at What Age a Man is Competent to Choose a Wife?

At what age does a man possess sufficient ability to be able to choose a wife?

According to the present French laws, remarks the New York Tribune, he is not considered capable until he reaches thirty years, and should he marry before that time he must obtain the consent of his parents. In 1918 and again in 1919 the chamber lowered the age to twenty-five, but each time the bill was rejected by the senate. Soon another attempt to alter the law will be made by Abbe Lemire, deputy for the Nord.

The abbe says that men who would make an unwise marriage at twenty-five would be just as liable to do the same thing at thirty. He also thinks that more men and women who have supposedly reached the age of discretion make more unhappy marriages than younger people.

"I certainly think a man is sufficiently matured by the time he is twenty-five, or even twenty-one, to enter into marriage upon his own responsibility. It seems ridiculous for a man to have to ask his parents' consent until he is thirty."

The Marchioness Townsend gives her opinion that "by the time he is twenty-five if a man has had tendencies they will have developed, or if he has good tendencies they will also have developed. It would certainly, in my opinion, be a good thing to lower the age at which a Frenchman attains his majority."

ARTIST'S MISSION IN LIFE

By Interpretation, He Must Unfold Beauty to Those Persons Not So Gifted as Himself.

All work has some element of the creative, but the artist must realize that it is art that brings everything to him, and that the best he can bring to art is sympathy, intelligence and skill in presenting it. The material has always been there and it is for him to develop the means of imparting it to others. The singer sings a song—but before he can deliver its message with his voice, the composer has visualized through a musical setting an interpretation of the poet—the poet has translated a phase of life, or emotion, that has come to him from reading or experience. Our knowledge and the mental processes that govern our actions are the result of recorded and unrecorded memories—and so on through an endless chain of evolution.

The artist's mission is to interpret the depth and breadth of the mysterious joys or sorrows of existence, real and imaginary, through music, poetry, sculpture, painting, the stage, or whatever his profession. In his interpretation he unfolds these beauties—to others and women who may not be gifted with the mental or physical abilities to re-create them for themselves, but who can understand and enjoy them through the medium of the artist—and as his skill in that medium develops, his giving out of understanding increases.

Piccadilly a "Ruff."

Piccadilly, known the world over as a famous thoroughfare of London, received its name from a tavern several centuries ago. The tavern in its turn took the name from a tennis court that was near by, and much frequented by members of the king's household.

The tennis court acquired the name because of the number of both men and women who frequented it wearing a "piccadilly," or ruff.

The name, then, was originally the name of a shirred bit of silk, or other stiff material that was gathered along the edge of the cloak, bodice or jerkin, and brought together under the chin.

Bull Became Municipal Idol.

In 1885 a Barcelona bull became a municipal idol, the object of a regular Apis worship. When he had killed five men and ten or twelve horses, the yard around his stable was thronged with devotees, though his keeper, fearing foul play, would admit no stranger to the interior of the sanctuary. After his last victory, on the festival of San Antonio, the crowd went almost crazy with excitement under deafening cheers and a continual shout of "¡Viva por el toro!" (Cakes for the bull); a libation of raisins came down like a shower, and when the victor was dragged out of the gate a young girl who had got a prize in a pantomime, leaned over the balcony, and at the risk of being impaled, crowned the gory brute with her own garland.

Britain's Bible Towns.

When a man is told to go to Jericho he might ask, "Which?" for there are at least a dozen in the world.

On large ordnance maps of England Paradise occurs five times and Nineveh, Mount Ararat, Mount Zion and Mount Ephraim three times each.

In the county of Bedford there is a Calvary wood, and in Dorset a Jordan Hill, not to mention the famous Quaker burial place in Buckinghamshire known as Jordans. Hampshire rejoices in a sleepy hollow called Land of Nod, Cambridgeshire has a Noah's Ark, and Worcestershire has a Mount's Wash Pot.

After that such commonplace as Hebron, Joppa, Bethlehem, Gideon and Herod pass almost unnoticed. All the same, all are to be found in England.—London Tit-Bits.

THE UNEMPLOYMENT PROBLEM

A financial writer in the St. Paul Pioneer Press, discussing the industrial situation, declares that in the present phase of the readjustment period the outstanding task for finance and business is to start activities that will diminish the army of unemployed. The balance sheet of business has been suffering for months from timidity and lack of enterprise. There are a host of men who want work but seem unable to find it, and they cannot afford to wait.

President Harding's call of a conference reveals a grasp of the significance of the situation, and an exchange of ideas will no doubt be helpful, but in the opinion of this writer, the real cure for the present situation will be an improvement in general business.

It is encouraging in this connection to notice that in some lines the upturn has come. In others, it is unlikely that trade will become less active. Better business is coming as a result of the desire for it, buttressed by courage and an intelligent grasp of the facts.

Harvest and the movement of crops are responsible for better business conditions in the Northwest. Both St. Paul and Minneapolis are among the cities reporting increased employment. Slight gains in employment throughout the country during August are shown by the monthly industrial survey made public by the United States Employment service. This is the first month since the financial depression began, more than a year ago, that unemployment did not increase.

INCREASED GRAIN EXPORTS

Figures made public by the Department of Commerce for the first seven months of the calendar year show an enormous increase in exports of grain as compared with the same months of previous years. For the first seven months of 1921, wheat exports were 148,014,000 bushels. This is twice the exports of wheat for the first seven months of 1920 and 1919. It is greater than the exports of wheat for the first seven months of any of the last ten years, the nearest approach being 1915 when the exports were a little over 123,000,000 bushels. The exports of corn show even a greater increase.

The low shipping rate made by the Shipping Board on agricultural exports to European points, in conjunction with the recent reduction of freight rates, enables the American farmer to place his products at European ports as cheaply as his competitor in Argentina—a thing he was never able to do until now.

RAILROAD FUNDING BILL

Eugene Meyer, managing director of the War Finance corporation, in a statement in which he considered means to remedy the present unemployment problem, declares that employment of a million or more of men would follow the passage by Congress of the Townsend-Winslow railroad funding bill. He thinks a considerable part of the existing unemployment is due to the position in which the railroads find themselves, short of funds and unable to make their normal purchases and do their normal repair and equipment work.

NO BETRAYAL

In its "separate peace" the United States recognizes the existence of the Versailles treaty, although not a party to it, and also recognizes the right of the parties to that treaty to enter into it and carry it into effect. There has been therefore, no betrayal of our associates in the war. We merely decline to be bound by certain features of the treaty, which were improperly inserted, but do not assume to interfere with other nations who are willing to be bound by them. The United States quarrels with no other nation that likes the Versailles treaty.

GOING AT IT

A syndicate headed by Charles S. Keith of Kansas City has recently purchased for $7,000,000 a tract of 27,000 acres of timber land in Oregon, said to be the best tract of timber in the world, and before the deeds had been transferred he had ordered 500 men put to work getting the logging road ready for operation. Looks as though men of successful business ventures in the past have a very optimistic view of the immediate business future.

PRICE-FIXED EXCHANGE

Rates of exchange in business transactions between people of different countries are determined by economic conditions. Any attempt to regulate rates of exchange by governmental action would be a species of price fixing—the fixing of the price of a pound sterling, for example. Experience has shown that price fixing by government is not practicable and results in injustice and injurious reaction. The Harding administration, believing in less government in business, will not try to price-fix rates of exchange.

WE ARE FOR IT

Senator Penrose, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee has indicated the intention to ask that the internal revenue bill be taken up before the tariff. In this he will have the hearty approval of a great majority of the people of the country.

It is stated in St. Paul that more residences are being erected in that city at this time than at any period since the war ended. This is due to a growing belief that building costs will not be any lower next spring than they are now, and the shortage of houses makes residential building almost a necessity.

The commission in charge of the Minnesota tidewater campaign will call together representatives of municipalities, civic associations, women's clubs, farmers' organization, and labor unions, to attend the Minnesota Tidewater congress to be held at St. Paul Oct. 7.

The cheering news comes from Duluth that coal is now moving out in larger volume from Duluth and Superior docks to points over the Northwest, and as the railroad officials say that ample rolling stock is available to carry any contingency, congestion is no longer feared.

Library of Congress Ranks Third.

The collection of the library of congress is the largest in the western hemisphere, and third in the world. It comprises over 2,710,500 printed books and pamphlets (including the law library, which, while a division of the library of congress, still remains at the capitol), maps and charts, pieces of music, and photographs, prints, engravings and lithographs numbering about one million. The collection is rich in history, political science, in official documents, national, state and foreign, and in Americana including important files of American newspapers and original manuscripts (colonial, revolutionary and formative periods). Many rare books and manuscripts belonging to the library are exhibited in show cases on the second floor.

AMUSEMENTS

"The Cradle of Courage"

In "The Cradle of Courage" which comes to the New Park theatre today, William S. Hart, the famous Paramount star appears as a policeman—one of the most striking roles he has had in many months.

It is a complete departure from his recent western dramas, but none the less effective, for it gives him a characterization that places heavy demand upon his versatility and dramatic power. As a result he is certain to elicit new praise from the thousands who have admired his splendid portrayals for seasons past and who will welcome his new productions with open arms.

This is the third of his personal productions for Paramount and is regarded as fully up to the high standard set by "The Toll Gate" and "Sand!" the two preceding pictures.

Earl Williams in "Capt. Swift" at Lyceum

Earle Williams' "Captain Swift," which will be shown at the Lyceum theatre tonight only is a splendid example of how a picture version of a famous play may be even superior to the original stage production. The screen has the advantage over the stage in that much of the action, vital to the story, which can only be referred to in the spoken play, owing to the natural limitations of the stage, actually is visualized when the camera is used.

In "Capt. Swift," which was first made famous in London, with the late Sir Herbert Tree in the title role, and later achieved similar success in this country with the late Maurice Barrymore, then one of the foremost American actors, as the hero, it must be shown early in the play that Captain Swift has been a bushman in Australia. He has been a bank robber and highwayman, robbing only the rich, giving much to the poor and always ready to lend a helping hand to the unfortunate.

"The Tomboy"

Eileen Percy will be seen here Saturday at the Lyceum Theatre in her latest William Fox picture, "The Tomboy," a story that is full of good-natured village fun mixed with touches of pathos. "The Tomboy" is an excellent name for the picture, because Miss Percy is something of a village cutup. She shocks the neighbors with frequency. She is the "star" of the local baseball team; in fact she is the "Babe" Ruth of the team. She knocks 'em over the fence (if there is a fence in the vicinity) in every game, and she is a "terror" on the bases. She's popular with everybody—except the blue-law-loving men and women folk. And she makes the mothers of daughters gnash their teeth with envy as they watch her capture love of a wealthy young fellow who drives into town in his car for a short stay. Minnie is some Tomboy.

SOME NOVELTIES OF SOUND

Really Curious Phenomena That Have Come Under the Observation of the Physicists.

If, when the air is still, you stand near a high wall and speak a word loudly, it will come back to you as if repeated by an invisible person. It is, of course, an echo.

Parallel walls separated by a few hundred feet, as in a canyon, may so reflect a sound as to cause it to be distinctly heard again and again in a long-dying series of repetitions.

If the reflecting walls are irregular, the repetitions, instead of being distinct to the ear, will be mere jumbled and unintelligible reverberations. This is noticeable in certain caverns.

Prof. W. J. Humphreys, an eminent physicist, describes a curious phenomenon which he calls an "acoustical mirage," sounds uttered at a distance on the surface of the earth seeming to come from high in the air. Such an uplifting of sound (corresponding to the uplifting of a landscape by a visual mirage) may occur when a stratum of warm air at the surface is overlaid by cooler air. The sound travels faster at the top, and so appears to come from aloft.

What's The Matter
With Clothing Prices?

Many ask, when is clothing coming back to pre-war prices. The answer is, when everything else gets back to pre-war prices.

In the meantime, clothing is leading the way.

The Department of Labor recently sent out a report that the cost of living has dropped 18%; that food stuffs have dropped 33%, and clothing 34%—the greatest decline of any commodity classed among the necessities of life.

But pre-war prices are not here yet, nor can they be until the men who make clothing and sell clothing can live on pre-war incomes.

You can expect clothing to come back to pre-war prices when:

- hard coal is back to $9 a ton
- railroad fares are back to 2c a mile
- house rent is back to $25 a month
- gasoline is 10c a gallon
- telephone rates are $1 a month
- a square meal is back to a quarter
- street car fares are back to a nickel
- cooks are back to $5 a week
- haircuts are back to a quarter
- movies are back to a nickel
- an auto wash is back to a dollar
- ice cream is back to a dime
- a doctor's call back to two bucks
- newspapers are back to a penny

--and remember, clothing is leading the way

Analysis of Exports

From 1921 Figures

Washington Sept. 9.—(Special Correspondence)—According to statistics emanating from the Department of Commerce, of the total decrease of $1,593,000,000 in the 1921 exports compared with those for 1920, the exports of domestic merchandise fell off $1,564,000,000 and the reexports of foreign merchandise previously imported by $29,000,000.

Sixty-three per cent of the decrease in domestic exports occurred in the group of materials for use in manufacturing, reflecting the lessened demand for such materials by the manufacturing countries of Europe and their curtailed ability to pay for them or to arrange credit terms. Crude materials decreased $304,000,000.

Cotton accounted for more than the total loss in crude materials, exports falling from 3,544,000,000 pounds, valued at $1,382,000,000 in 1920 to 2,811,000,000 pounds valued at $600,000,000 in 1921, a decrease in quantity of 21 per cent and in value of 57 per cent, due to much lower prices last year. Exports of tobacco leaf dropped by $35,000,000 in value and by 136,000,000 pounds in quantity.

As a result of the British coal strike American exports of coal to foreign countries increased from about 28,000,000 tons valued at $173,000,000 in 1920 to over 39,000,000 tons valued at $353,000,000 in 1921, a gain in quantity of 40 per cent and in value of 104 per cent, the average price per ton last year having increased 6 per cent above the 1920 export price.

In the group of partly-manufactured materials the principal losses occurred in exports of copper pigs and leather, which decreased each about $55,000,000, chemicals, $48,000,000, coconut and soya bean oil $42,000,000, and sawed boards and resin about $15,000,000 each.

Exports of foodstuffs decreased by $383,000,000 in value last year from 1920, this loss being caused by a drop of $735,000,000 in prepared or manufactured foods, while crude foodstuffs increased by $353,000,000. Meats and packing-house products fell off $287,000,000 in value, bacon and hams and shoulders showing the largest decreases in quantities as well as in values.

Dairy products dropped $80,000,000, of which $63,000,000 was in condensed milk, and exports of sugar were $88,000,000 less in value last year than in 1920. Fruits show a loss of $50,000,000 of which $28,000,000 was in canned fruits. Fish decreased by $23,000,000, canned salmon alone dropping by $13,000,000 in value.

The increase in the group of crude foodstuffs is accounted for by much larger exports of wheat to Europe, which increased by 171,000,000 bushels and $384,000,000, while corn increased by $36,000,000 and rye by $18,000,000 in value. Exports of oats dropped

Headquarters For Nation's Women At Capital Will Be Majestic Architectural Monument

Of many designs submitted by leading American architects to the Woman's National Foundation, of which Mrs. C. C. Calhoun is president, the above drawings by Francis Burrall Hoffman, Jr. and Murray Hoffman, well-known New York architects, has been finally accepted by the architectural committee for the Foundation's new civic feminine home. This will be the main building of a magnificent group shortly to be erected in Washington, D. C., on a nine and a half acre site. As the Foundation aims to include all progressive American women, whether their interests be civic, literary, artistic or domestic, provision will be made for these various activities in the new home.

In the main building will be the executive offices not only of the Foundation itself but of all clubs desiring headquarters in the national capital. Here, too, will be a theatre or opera house. The unique feature, however, of this pile will be the Hall of Remembrance, which is also to be the auditorium or convention hall of the Foundation. The architectural design here will allow for forty-eight columns representing the forty-eight states, on which will be inscribed names of famous women who from pioneer times to the present day have made state and incidentally national history.

A second building on the Foundation ground will include residential quarters for members, in whose roll every woman of good standing in her community can be entered at a basic fee of $1.00 a year. There will be also a Founders' Club, to the privileges of which all women who have helped by their initial donation of $1,000 to bring this wonderful civic home within the reach of American women, will be entitled. Membership in this club will be open until January 1, 1923.

Those desiring further information about the objects of the Foundation should communicate with the Woman's National Foundation, Connecticut Avenue, Washington, D. C.

$26,000,000, rice $32,000,000, and wheat flour $86,000,000 in value, the decreases in values being proportionately much greater than in quantities on account of lower prices in 1921. Exports of total breadstuffs increased $264,000,000 in value.

The principal articles of finished manufactures showing decreases were cotton cloths, with a loss of 311,000,000 yards and $70,000,000; other cotton goods, $54,000,000; automobiles, $34,000,000; boots and shoes, $34,000,000; wool manufactures, $35,000,000; freight cars, $27,000,000; metal-working machinery $15,000,000. Total iron and steel manufactures increased $105,000,000. Mineral oil products increased $104,000,000, the export gallon price being higher.

VARYING FORMS OF CURRENCY

In Many Parts of the World the Use of Gold and Silver Is Practically Unknown.

In odd corners of the world many queer things are used as money.

In China you may find in circulation lumps of gold or silver bearing marks which show that they were first issued hundreds of years ago. In shape they are square oval or oblong, and they weigh anything up to 1½ pounds. The Chinese also use small strips of brass or copper, some of which are worth less than a hundredth of a penny. Some of the Mongol tribes pay their bills with little cubes of compressed tea.

In Burma one finds the cowrie shell used as money, while little porcelain coins take the place of halfpence. The inhabitants of some of the districts bordering the Persian gulf do their buying and selling with fishbones of various sizes.

Africa provides a weird assortment. Beads, elephant tusks and spear heads are all used as coins.

In Oceania flint axes are the most common means of exchange, but we find considerable use made of parrots' feathers woven into ropes. The real wild red Indian hardly exists now, but in a few remote countries, such as Alaska, he is still to be found using his shell money.

From Quarry to Pulpit.

It was the unprepossessing appearance of Dr. Joseph Parker, the famous preacher, which led to him being nicknamed "the Russian bear."

An American visitor who heard him said he looked more like the captain of a pirate vessel than a minister of the Gospel.

Talking of Dr. Parker's early days, Mr. Albert Dawson of the City temple said that the minister's parents were so poor that he went to school shod in a pair of clogs with iron round the soles. Ultimately he went to work as a mason.

One day, however, while hewing stone in the quarry, he exclaimed suddenly: "Hammers and stones tire poor men's bones!" He threw down his pick, went off, and never returned to the quarry.

When he was twenty-three, he entered the ministry, and married Annie Nesbit, "the soul I loved, the girl that saved me and made me a man."

TRAGEDIES TRACED TO OIL

Pipe Lines and Overflows Responsible for the Deaths of Many Animals and Birds.

That almost unerring instinct which carries animals through grave dangers has led in many instances in the Midway and Sunset oil fields of California to their undoing. Chief among such victims are rabbits and water fowl.

A jackrabbit and a cottontail find a nice round, smooth hole. There are many such in the oil fields where oil piping is a necessity for the transportation of oil to the refineries. The rabbits decide to set up housekeeping there. The cottontail desires a permanent home and the jackrabbit wants a refuge safe from malevolent man.

Soon they discover their habitat is being moved. No doubt they are frightened, but they instinctively stay within their retreat. One end of the hole is closed. Even then they do not leave. Soon the other end of the hole is darkened. Then it is darkness eternal for the furry pair.

Some time later it is discovered that a newly laid oil pipe line is choked. After great labor the line is disjunctured and the remains of many rabbits removed. Thousands of rabbits have been thus exterminated in the oil fields.

The death rate among waterfowl is even greater. Again, as with the rabbits, instinct leads them to certain destruction. Every little lake of oil in the vicinity of a gusher is a trap for the unthinking birds. At twilight and dawn these tar-colored lakes appear as bodies of water to the deluded fowl.

LONDON HAS GROWN TOO BIG

Metropolis of the British Empire Is Loosely Knit Together, and Confusion Results.

Poor old London is so big that she doesn't know what to do. She has outgrown her administrative clothes and finds that her outskirts are sorely bedraggled. She hopes that parliament will come to her relief, but she has waited so long without anything being done for her and meanwhile has grown so outrageously that parliament is a bit dubious about undertaking the job.

London, you understand, is merely a name, and it may mean one of several things. No railway company sells tickets to London; they are careful to specify the exact station in that vast conglomeration indefinitely spoken of by that name.

There is first of all the City of London, the original London, built around the Tower and walled in for defense, a square mile of twisting streets and alleys, where business houses are built on old churchyards and the ancient church tower rises behind a five-story stone office building. Then there is the London of the 23 boroughs, the County of London, which includes the towns that grew up outside the ancient city. There are also innumerable suburbs.—W. K. Kelsey in the Detroit News.

Finest of All Languages.

There is no modern language to compare with the ancient Hellenic tongue. There never was a language its equal. As scholars have said, every other speech compared to the ancient Greek is stammering. Other tongues have their merits and defects, but the Greek has all the merits combined and none of the defects. It is the perfection of speech. As a language for affairs it is as direct as the English or Latin; as a language for philosophy it is as good as the German and for science is better; as the language of polite society it is as elegant as the French; and it is more melodious than the best Tuscan Italian. This is no eulogy (eulogy, by the way, is a Greek word, of our own, but a summation of the dicta of scholars).—Exchange.

Lost interest in party.

May and Maude were attending their first party. Their idea of a party was tables of ice cream, candles, cakes, etc. After watching the kitchen door for some time and not seeing any hopes of her expectations being realized, May called across the room to Maude: "Let's go home, they aren't going to have anything to eat."

Analysis of Exports

From 1921 Figures

Washington Sept. 9.—(Special Correspondence)—According to statistics emanating from the Department of Commerce, of the total decrease of $1,593,000,000 in the 1921 exports compared with those for 1920, the exports of domestic merchandise fell off $1,564,000,000 and the reexports of foreign merchandise previously imported by $29,000,000.

Sixty-three per cent of the decrease in domestic exports occurred in the group of materials for use in manufacturing, reflecting the lessened demand for such materials by the manufacturing countries of Europe and their curtailed ability to pay for them or to arrange credit terms. Crude materials decreased $304,000,000.

Cotton accounted for more than the total loss in crude materials, exports falling from 3,544,000,000 pounds, valued at $1,382,000,000 in 1920 to 2,811,000,000 pounds valued at $600,000,000 in 1921, a decrease in quantity of 21 per cent and in value of 57 per cent, due to much lower prices last year. DON'T EXPECT TO ABOLISH ALL WAR

STATESMEN HAVE NO SUCH
IDEA CONCERNING THE CON-FERENCE IN WASHINGTON.

PRESIDENT DISPELS AN ERROR

Greatest Hope Is That Way Will Be Found to Limit Armaments, Not to Do Away With Them Entirely—Must Maintain Adequate Defense.

Washington.—The instant that the disarmament conference was proposed there were evidences that the American people here, there and elsewhere, following the line of their "unthinking thought" of 1914, 1915, 1916
and early 1917, were jumping to the conclusion that war for all time was to cease, that the United States soon
would get rid of its army and navy,
and that powder, shell, drenchbombs,
gas and other weapons and munitions
of warfare soon would be sent into
the nether place of the forgotten.

So it is that Washington today is getting results in the way of reflex on President Harding's speech to the members of the army war college in which he made the attempt specifically
to dispel the apparent false hopes of many of the American people that the coming disarmament conference might
end war for all time.

It actually was necessary for men
who understood the situation to write words of warning because of the seeming widespread feeling that the conference of the winter was certain to smooth the front of Mars and to keep it smooth for all time. Officials pointed out at the time the fact that there is a wide difference between hope and certainty. The President finally felt compelled himself to make public his views on the subject so that the American people would not later hold him
responsible for making false promises. Of course he never made any promise, and all that he held out was hope that armaments might be limited.

Limitation Not Disarmament.
Loose writing, of which many of us are guilty, is responsible for some of the misunderstanding concerning
the scope of the coming conference.
It is not to be a disarmament conference, but a conference on the subject of the limitation of armaments. There is a difference between the two things
which needs no explaining.

Every government official seemingly knows that selfishness will enter largely into the proceedings of the meeting between the representatives of the nations. It is pointed out today
by a student of the situation that the success of the conference will depend largely upon the extent to which conscience plays a part in it. No one apparently expects that as a first procedure the representatives of each nation will say, "Go as far as you like,
we will follow," nor that the aces of intention will be pulled from the packs and placed face up on the table,
but the hope is that eventually conscience will do its work and that not only the aces but all the other cards
will be dealt separately with the backs
down.

There are no evidences today of
over-anxiety on the part of the American army and navy officers lest their occupations are to be gone after the conference agreements have been signed, impressed and delivered. One of the great problems which will be presented to the conference for solution will concern itself with the size
of the army and navy which each nation must maintain for purely defensive purposes against outsiders and for safety purposes against riotous
citizens of its own land.

As to Defensive Strength.
There are some caldrons of written and printed material on the subject of offense and defense. It has been apparent that when France has written or spoken about defense it has had its mind on one probable enemy, and it can be said truthfully, if somewhat reluctantly, that recently the United States has had its eye more fixedly in one direction than in any other when thinking on the protection of its interests from an assailant.

In the matter of navy disarmaments, the length of coast lines will enter into the discussion. France apparently does not care much about the question of naval disarmament, but it will insist that it needs a bigger army
than any other nation for defense
purposes and defense purposes only.
France has not been aggressively inclined since the days of the third Napoleon; at least so history seems to run, and it was the third Napoleon
rather than France that was aggressive then. However, comparatively recent disclosures have proved that
in 1870 Germany was bent on aggression, although it managed largely to conceal the fact until a certain correspondence was made public.

Administration officials do believe,
and apparently sincerely, that millions
upon millions will be saved the different countries of the earth as the result of the coming conference. The belief has its basis in a very simple fact. It is thought that if each nation discovers its disarmament is to
be properly proportioned to the disarmament of other nations, nothing
evil can result.

Substitutes for coal as fuel were spoken of as long ago as 1667.

LESS MEAT IF BACK AND KIDNEYS HURT

Take a Glass of Salts to Flush Kidneys if Bladder Bothers You

Eating meat regularly eventually produces kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well-known authority, because the uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish; clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region; rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone;
makes a delightful effervescent lithiawater drink which millions of men and women take now and then to keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus avoiding serious kidney disease.

Any who have seen a pack of the eager waving of their tails, evidently to enable the pack to keep together, and possibly for purposes of mutual encouragement. Fire a bullet into one of the leaders and see how quickly all the flags are drooped, and the creatures get out of the way, each for himself. If you notice, the fox, who has a magnificent tail, does not raise it aloft at all. He is a solitary hunter and uses his brush chiefly for a muffler, to keep his feet and nose warm. But your dog does a good deal of his talking with his tail. You can follow his very thoughts—dogs do think, you know!—by watching his tail. Just as I have carried on long and useful conversations with occasional Indians of strange tongues by observing the movements of face, shoulders and hands. I have an idea that animals were intended to communicate with each other mainly by using their tails. The vertebrae through which the brain projects much of its direction and knowledge extends to the tip of the tail. The tail is, therefore, in direct and constant contact with the controlling power of the animal.—Montreal Fam-

DON'T EXPECT TO ABOLISH ALL WAR

STATESMEN HAVE NO SUCH
IDEA CONCERNING THE CON-FERENCE IN WASHINGTON.

PRESIDENT DISPELS AN ERROR

Greatest Hope Is That Way Will Be Found to Limit Armaments, Not to Do Away With Them Entirely—Must
Maintain Adequate Defense.

By EDWARD B. CLARK.
Washington.—The instant that the disarmament conference was proposed there were evidences that the American people here, there and elsewhere, following the line of their "un-
thinking thought" of 1914, 1915, 1916
and early 1917, were jumping to the conclusion that war for all time was
to cease, that the United States soon
would get rid of its army and navy,
and that powder, shell, dreadnoughts,
gas and other weapons and munitions
of warfare soon would be sent into
the nether place of the forgotten.

So it is that Washington today is
getting results in the way of reflex on President Harding's speech to the members of the army war college in
which he made the attempt specifically
to dispel the apparent false hopes of
many of the American people that the coming disarmament conference might
end war for all time.

It actually was necessary for men
who understood the situation to write
words of warning because of the seeming widespread feeling that the conference of the winter was certain to
smooth the front of Mars and to keep
it smooth for all time. Officials pointed out at the time the fact that there
is a wide difference between hope and certainty. The President finally felt compelled himself to make public his
views on the subject so that the American people would not later hold him
responsible for making false promises. Of course he never made any promise, and all that he held out was
hope that armaments might be limited.

Limitation Not Disarmament.
Loose writing, of which many of
us are guilty, is responsible for some
of the misunderstanding concerning
the scope of the coming conference.
It is not to be a disarmament conference, but a conference on the subject
of the limitation of armaments. There is a difference between the two things
which needs no explaining.

Every government official seemingly
knows that selfishness will enter largely into the proceedings of the meeting between the representatives of
the nations. It is pointed out today
by a student of the situation that the success of the conference will depend
largely upon the extent to which conscience plays a part in it. No one apparently expects that as a first procedure the representatives of each nation will say, "Go as far as you like,
we will follow," nor that the aces of Intention will be pulled from the pockets and placed face up on the table,
but the hope is that eventually con-
science will do its work and that not only the aces but all the other cards
will be dealt separately with the backs
down.

There are no evidences today of
overanxiety on the part of the American army and navy officers lest their occupations are to be gone after the conference agreements have been signed, impressed and delivered. One
of the great problems which will be presented to the conference for solution will concern itself with the size
of the army and navy which each nation must maintain for purely defensive
purposes against outsiders and for
safety purposes against riotous
citizens of its own land.

As to Defensive Strength.
There are some calyxes of written
and printed material on the subject of
offense and defense. It has been apparent that when France has written or
mind on one probable enemy, and it
can be said truthfully, if somewhat
reluctantly, that recently the United States has had its eye more fixedly in
one direction than in any other when thinking on the protection of its interests from an assailant.

In the matter of navy disarmament, the length of coast lines will enter into the discussion. France apparently does not care much about the
question of naval disarmament, but it
will insist that it needs a bigger army
than any other nation for defense
purposes and defense purposes only.
France has not been aggressively inclined since the days of the third Napoleon; at least so history seems to
run, and it was the third Napoleon
rather than France that was aggressive then. However, comparatively
recent disclosures have proved that
in 1870 Germany was bent on aggression, although it managed largely to
conceal the fact until a certain correspondence was made public.

Administration officials do believe,
and apparently sincerely, that millions
upon millions will be saved the different countries of the earth as the result of the coming conference. The belief has its basis in a very simple
fact. It is thought that if each nation discovers its disarmament is to
be properly proportioned to the disarmament of other nations, nothing
evil can result.

Substitutes for coal as fuel were
spoken of as long ago as 1867.

BRAINERD'S OLDEST STORIES OF TODAY

John Carlson sold a steamship ticket to a man who has sent for his 19 year old wife in Lithuania. Here is the young lady's address in the old country: "Utren Kama Betigalas Volans Resemac Aprica Kauno Redeba, Lithuania". To be a brakie on a passenger train in Lithuania is no soft snap.

Would Be Worth Seeing.

In the geometry class a difficult problem arose. The teacher informed the pupils that he would put it on the blackboard and explain it. After carefully and tediously working on the diagram he addressed the class thus: "I want every one in this class to watch the blackboard now as I run through it."

Aldrich's Critic.

"As time went on," says Ferris Greenleaf of Thomas Bailey Aldrich, "he was growing increasingly fastidious in the revision of his prose, and in the end he smoothed and filed it with the same loving, lingering care that he bestowed upon his poems. As I wrote in one of his letters: 'There is only one critic I stand greatly in dread of; he becomes keener and more exacting every month; he is getting to be a dreadful fellow for me, and his name is T. P. Aldrich. There is no let up.'"

LIVED HERE MANY YEARS AGO

Attended Old Sixth Street School, Worked in Brainerd Lumber Co. Belonged to Firemen

When E. D. Wilkins, former Brainerd resident and now yard superintendent and shipper of the Panhandle Lumber Co., in Washington, loaded a car of lumber for the Mahlum Lumber Company of Brainerd, he got homesick, took a planned board two feet long and 10 inches wide and inscribed a message in blue pencil as follows:

"This car of lumber shipped by Panhandle Lumber Co. of Lone, Washington. Harry Nash, planer foreman, E. D. Wilkins, yard superintendent and shipper. Mr. Nash and myself were boys in Brainerd 41 years ago. F. N. Nash (father of Harry Nash) was planer foreman for J. J. Howe. My father worked for J. J. Howe. I went to school in the old sixth street school house and later when grown to manhood was yard foreman for the Brainerd Lumber Company and seven years a Brainerd fireman. Then I left for the golden west."

PICRIC ACID BEING DELIVERED

Timothy-Allen Farmers Club Bought a Ton of It to be Used in Land Clearing Work

The Crow Wing County Farm Bureau will have extensive exhibits at the County Fair at Pequot Sept. 12, 13 and 14. Each township will exhibit its four leading grains, rye, oats, barley, flax, also half a peck of potatoes and ten ears of corn.

The sale of picric acid, as inaugurated by County Agent E. G. Roth, is meeting with success. Orders were received for over 25,000 pounds. A full carload was received and is being distributed among farmers purchasers. Timothy-Allen townships farm bureau ordered a ton. It requires a No. 8 cap to shoot it. A six ounce stick has the same force as an eight ounce stick of 40 per cent dynamite. The picric acid does not freeze nor give one a headache.

NO EXCUSE FOR NO LICENSE TAG

Commissioner of Highways C. M. Babcock Asks that All Motor Vehicles be Properly Licensed

INSTRUCTIONS ARE GIVEN OUT County and State Highway Employees Asked to Notify Delinquents to Take Out License

In a notice sent out to county and state highway employees, C. M. Babcock, Commissioner of Highways, makes these pertinent suggestions: "In traveling over the state we occasionally find motor vehicles operating without 1921 license tags and inasmuch as the funds for construction and maintenance of the trunk highway system are raised by means of the license fee, evidenced by these tags, it is of special interest to the highway department to see that all vehicles are properly licensed.

"The motor vehicle law makes it a misdemeanor for anyone to avoid this tax and we feel that it is our duty to check this matter up and to inform county attorneys of all violations. It is not only a matter of duty but in fairness to those who have willingly paid their tax, we should see that all others do likewise.

"It is suggested that employees of the county and of the state highway department proceed by notifying delinquents that complaint will be made to the county attorney unless fees are paid immediately and if such fees are not paid the matter should be reported to the county attorney by swearing out a complaint against the delinquent."

GIVE TRIPS TO PRODUCTION CONTEST

One of the most interesting features at the Pope County Fair to be held at Glenwood, Minn., September 19 to 21, will be the Dairy Production contest at which premiums will be awarded to the persons selecting the three cows with the highest butterfat production record in the Pope County Cow Testing Association for the period ending September 20, 1921. First prize, transportation both ways and one admission to the National Dairy Show, to be held at the Minnesota Fair grounds October 8 to 15; second prize, transportation one way and one admission; third prize, one half transportation one way and one admission.

When General Manager W. E. Skinner, of the National Dairy show heard of this enterprising move he notified A. P. Henderson, president of the Pope County Fair, that he would add to these awards; first prize, a season ticket to the show; second prize, five admissions; third prize, three admissions.

Seek Employment Worth While.

Let your employment be such as may become a reasonable person; and not be a business fit for children or distracted people, but fit for your age and understanding. Ford
THE UNIVERSAL CAR

ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. Edsel B. Ford, President of the Ford Motor Company, makes the following announcement:

"We are making another reduction in the prices of Ford cars and the Ford truck, effective today. The new prices average $70.00 under former prices, and are the lowest at which Ford cars and trucks have ever been sold. List prices, F. O. B. Detroit are now as follows:

	New Price	Old Price	Amount of Reduction
Chassis	$295	$345	$ 50
Runabout	325	370	45
Touring Car	355	415	60
Truck	445	495	50
Coupe	595	695	100
Sedan	660	760	100

"This is the third price cut during the past twelve months. On September 22, 1920, the price of the Ford touring car was reduced from $575 to $440; June 7th to $415, and now to $355, making a total reduction in this type of $220, or 38 per cent. The same proportionate reductions have been made in all other types. One year ago the price of a Ford sedan was $975; today it lists at $660 with the same equipment.

"We are taking advantage of every known economy in the manufacture of our products in order that we may give them to the public at the lowest possible price, and by doing that, we feel that we are doing the one big thing that will help this country into more prosperous times. People are interested in prices, and are buying when prices are right.

"The production of Ford cars and trucks for August again broke all previous high records with the total reaching 117,696. This is the fourth consecutive month in which our output has gone over the hundred thousand mark, the total for the four months being 463,074, which has gone a long way in making possible the present reductions. June this year, with an output of 117,247 was the previous record month.

"One noteworthy feature of our sales is the increased demand for Ford trucks and cars for salesmen. This class of commercial business has been gradually increasing the past sixty days and we interpret it as a very good sign of improvement in general business.

"No reduction has been made in the price of the Fordson tractor, and none is contemplated."

Go over these new prices! See how little it costs to become the owner of a Ford car or a Ford truck. Can you really afford to do without one any longer?

Let us tell you more about it, and advise you regarding the delivery of the particular type of car in which you are interested.

NATIONAL GUARD MEMORIAL PLAN

GENERAL RICKARDS SUGGESTS
SUITABLE RECOGNITION OF
ITS SERVICES IN WAR.

BUILDING IN CAPITAL CITY

Chief of the Militia Bureau of the War Department in Letter to Adjutant Generals of States, Gives the Outline of His Proposal.

By EDWARD B. CLARK.

Washington.—For the first time in the history of this government an officer of the National Guard is on duty as chief of the militia bureau of the War department. This post always has been held by a regular army officer, but under a change in the law a National Guardsman holding a fine war record has been chosen for the place—Brig. Gen. George C. Rickards of Pennsylvania.

General Rickards has just sent a letter to the adjutant general of each state proposing the erection of a memorial building in the Capital City in memory and in appreciation of the services of the National Guardsmen of the nation.

It seems likely that in course of time there will be placed in Washington permanent memorials to the men of all services who have served the country from its foundation. The National Guard memorial is a new proposition, but already the plan has received marks of sympathy and encouragement from all parts of the country.

General Rickards in his letter to the adjutant generals gives the plan, and the reasons for its carrying out, succinctly. The letter gives the facts in the case and shows that it is a letter of personal conviction.

General Rickards' Suggestion.

The communication to the adjutant generals of the different states in part is as follows:

"From time immemorial it has been a proper and popular custom to erect monuments and buildings of one description or another in commemoration of those individuals and organizations who have rendered conspicuous service to community, state or nation.

"Memorials have been built to the soldier, sailor, statesman, scientist and inventor; to the army and its units; to the navy and its ships; to the Red Cross, the Knights of Columbus, the Salvation Army and others which have been identified with the great problems of war. Perhaps no epoch has been productive of such memorials as the present which has been actuated and accentuated by the World War and the part played in it by this nation.

"For years the National Guard struggled on in the face of many disadvantages, its officers and men unappreciated in their efforts, making personal sacrifices without the hope or expectation of recompense, unless perchance the emergency would arise whereby their military teaching and earning through these years of voluntary service might be employed to the use and advantage of their nation. Thrice in the ordinary lifetime of man has it been the privilege of many National Guardsmen to have volunteered their services to the federal government in a common cause, one for which every citizen should feel as deeply obligated.

Memorial Building Proposed.

"Are these services of the National Guardsmen worth commemorating? If so, how can it best be accomplished, and what would be a fitting tribute to the memory of those National Guardsmen who have voluntarily given their lives in their country's cause?

"I suggest that nothing could be more fitting or indicative of the appreciation of the services and sacrifices of these officers and men who gave their lives on these occasions than to erect in the city of Washington a monumental building sacred to their memories, a monument built by the contributions from their living

comrades or both past and present, and dedicated to the use and advancement of the National Guard.

"Within this building establish the headquarters of the National Guard, the militia bureau of the war Department (so-called for the reason that our federal Constitution does not provide for the term National Guard), in which department all of the business of the National Guard is transacted. It may embrace assembly rooms for the purpose of holding meetings of the adjutants general and National Guard association meetings. It might well contain a National Guard museum, and many of the features of intense interest and value to the National Guard.

"While I have consulted no one on this project, I am sure that congress would look upon it with enough favor to provide the site for such a building, equip it for the militia bureau and under satisfactory stipulations maintain it as all other buildings of this character are maintained under federal control."

Headed for Trouble.

"What's the excitement?" "A motorist is trying to convince a traffic policeman that he didn't break a traffic law."

"Is he making any progress?" "Yes. He's getting closer to the police court every minute."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Baseball Notes

William McKenly, semipro ball tosser, has been signed by the Cubs.

There is nothing left of the champion Giants of 1917 except Burns and Sallee.

The Meusel family in baseball is united in the same city if not on the same club.

Wonder if the Galveston "Sandcrabs" got their name through a tendency to go backwards.

Ike Kemp, former Boston college first baseman, is to be given a trial with the Cleveland team.

Another excellent name for a ball player is Diamond, who catches for the Denver team of the Midwest league.

Jeff Tesreau, former Giant pitcher, has signed a contract to coach the Dartmouth baseball team for the next three seasons.

Tom McGuire, center fielder for Martinsburg in the Blue Ridge league, has been sold to the Rochester International league team.

Des Moines has a new second baseman answering to the name of Yuna, which sounds more like a new soft drink than the name of a ball player.

Chet Thomas, catcher, recently released by the Cleveland American league team, has signed to manage the Hartford (Conn.) Eastern league team.

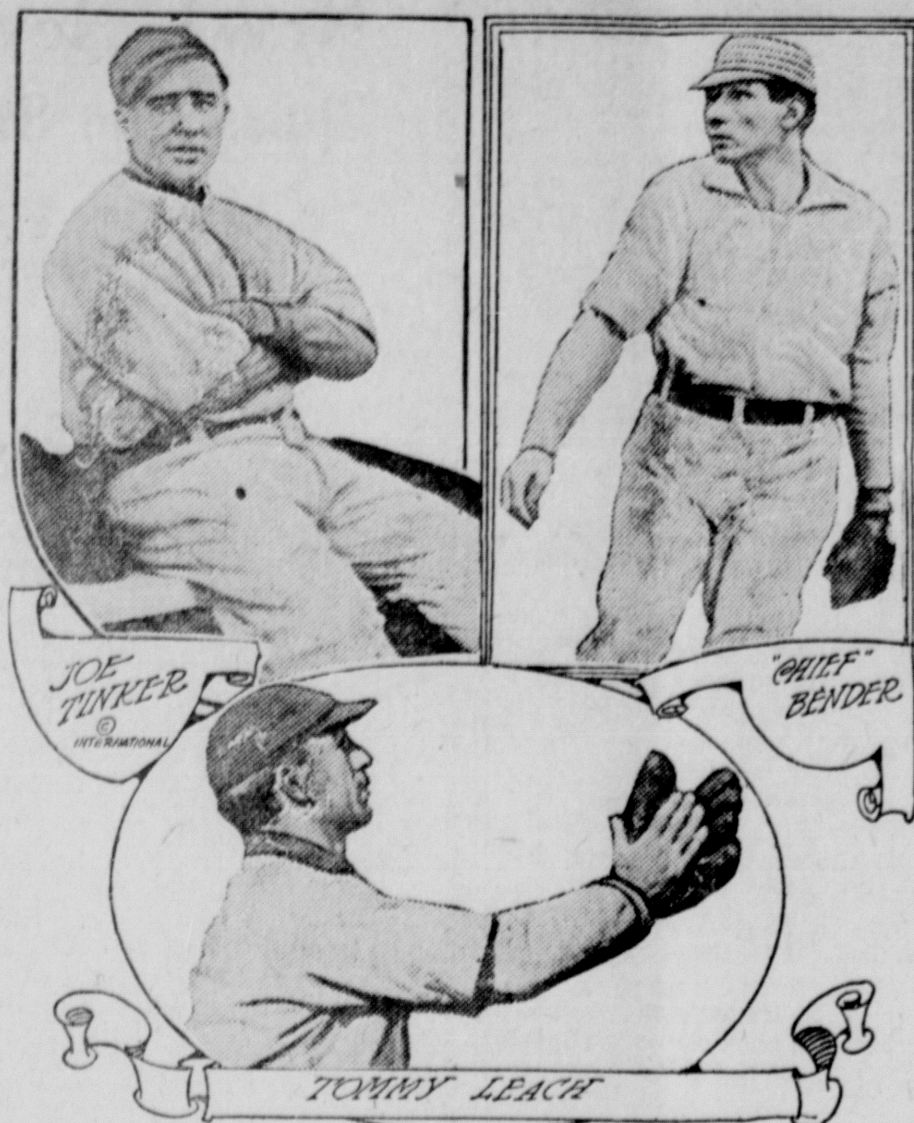

Ted Jourdan, Salt Lake City first baseman, Pacific Coast league, who has been on the shelf for a month with a bad case of charley horse, is in shape to play again.

Chicago-Boston double-header in the National league on July 13 gets special mention from the fact that a total of 148 plays were made in the two games without a boot or bobble.

Gene Packard, former National league pitcher, who has been pitching independent ball in Ohio, will spend the remainder of the season working for out-of-town clubs in Missouri and Kansas.

Folks often laugh heartily when you speak of "a pitcher who can hit," but kindly note the following: Shaw, .417; Wood, .396; Ruth, .355; Hodge, .346; Uble, .308; Mays, .303; Martin, .341; Alexander, .321; Sallee, .312, and Ruether, .304.

FORMER MAJOR LEAGUE PLAYERS NOW LEADING CLASS C-D TEAMS

Glancing over the baseball directory sponsored by John H. Farrell, of the National association, one is astonished at the number of old timers whose names were once familiar in the major leagues that are managing class C and D teams somewhere in this big land.

For instance, Rudy Hulsitt is pilot of the Pawhuska team of the Western association; Josh Clarke is manager of the Coffeyville team in the Southwest league; Tommy Leach is handling the Tampa club in the Florida league, while Joe Tinker is handling Orlando and Cy Barger St. Petersburg in the same sun-stricken circuit; Josh Devore is managing Grand Rapids in the Central circuit; Chief Bender is in charge of New Haven in the Eastern league, and Larry Cheney is boss of players at Charleston in the South Atlantic league. So the story goes.

PUBLICITY PLANS OF CONFERENCE

CONSIDERABLE PART OF THE PROCEEDINGS DOUBTLESS WILL BE SECRET.

MANY WRITERS WILL ATTEND

Correspondents in Washington Making Arrangements for the Entertainment of Several Hundred American and Foreign Newspaper Men.

By EDWARD B. CLARK.

Washington.—How much will the public be allowed to know of the actual daily inner proceedings of the conference on disarmament and far East problems which is to start in Washington on Armistice day? The belief is that a considerable part of the proceedings will be secret, but it is believed also that after agreement among the conferees day by day, the main facts will be given to the press.

Many of the meetings of the conference will be open to the press and public, but as the hall in the Pan-American building which has been set aside for the use of the conference is not by any means a large one, some strict attendance regulations will be necessary.

An inside limit of 2,000 official visitors has been set by the authorities in estimating the attendance at the forthcoming conference on disarmament. This estimate takes no cognition of what may be called extraneous visitors.

Newspaper men stationed in Washington are making preparations to welcome and to look after the comfort of some three hundred of their comrades who are expected to arrive here, perhaps properly enough, on or about All Saints day from the Old World and the New. If the conferees decree that the conference is to be conducted along the "open covenants openly arrived at" plan, the newspaper men, resident and alien alike would fill the hall of confab.

English and French to Be Used.

The proceedings of the conference are to be written and printed in two languages, English and French. There will be some correspondents in Washington who speak neither of these languages, but they will get the news all the same, for that is a way they have. It is fully expected that every European country will be represented by newspaper writers, and of course Japan will have its writing representatives on the spot.

Recently in Washington there was formed an organization which is called the Overseas Writers' club. Its membership is composed entirely of present Washington correspondents who at one time or another have served their newspapers in foreign fields. It was this newly-formed organization which gave a luncheon to Lord Northcliffe on his visit to Washington. It was the club's first formal social function.

The State department has been consulting members of the National Press club, the Gridiron club, the Overseas Writers' club, and more directly than with all others, the members of the standing committee of correspondents. This committee represents the Washington correspondents who have admission to the press galleries. There are many writers of various kinds in Washington to whom admission to the galleries is denied because they do not supply telegraphic service.

The State department in a general way will look after the comfort and to some extent the amusement of all the visitors from foreign countries, but it is to be the special duty and pleasure of the newspaper men to look after their colleagues. The quarters of the National Press club are none too large, but of course every visiting writer will be given a guest card, and in addition he will be given a temporary card admitting him to the two press galleries of congress.

Entertainment of Visitors.

Many of the members of the Overseas Writers' club attended the Versailles treaty meeting, and in addition most of its members were war correspondents either in England or in France. The result is that the members know personally many of the foreign newspaper men who will come to Washington, and of course the personal acquaintance equation will help out in the problem of proper entertainment.

It is understood that only $20,000 will be given to the State department for the use for social purposes during the continuation of the conference. Inasmuch as Washington fully expects that the conferees will be here for at least six months, the sum set aside for entertainment is not a staggeringly big one, and is it believed that much more can be done in the entertaining way than that which can find expression of hospitality through one or two rather large receptions of an official nature.

The foreigners, however, will not be entirely unhappy, even if the United States does not extend its luncheon, dinner and breakfast hospitality daily. All the high officials who are to come, and presumably all the members of their staffs, are to be allowed "to bring their own with them," and therefore not one of the foreigners need go thirsty, while some native American officials will go about with their tongues hanging out and down.

WOULD REDUCE GOLF LINKS TO 12 HOLES

Englishman Advances Reasons in Article in Sphere.

Ancient Sport Could Be Made Tolerable if Course Was Cut Six Holes—Numerous Evils of Game Would Be Eliminated.

There is only one golfer in England whose ideas should appeal strongly to the Western Golf association, says an Eastern writer. He is A. P. Herbert, and he writes as follows in the Sphere, a British publication:

"I think that by strong measures it may still be possible to make golf a tolerable game. The chief thing is that it is frightfully complicated and frightfully laborious. The fundamental cause of this is the unfortunate fixing of 18 holes. I wonder who did that? It is six holes too long.

"It is because of these six holes that the bond-slaves have to bolt their breakfasts and miss their baths and come back late for lunch; that every one rushes around the course at a hand gallop; that every one is always either pressing some one in front or letting somebody go through behind; that every one is touchy in the morning; that every one totters exhausted into the clubhouse and takes to secret drinking before lunch. If the normal course was 12 holes these evils might disappear."

The Wise Man.

The wise man is equal, ready, but not officious; has in every thing an eye to sure-footing; he offends no body, nor is easily offended; and is always willing to compound for wrongs, if not forgive them.—William Penn

NATIONAL GUARD MEMORIAL PLAN

GENERAL RICKARDS SUGGESTS
SUITABLE RECOGNITION OF
ITS SERVICES IN WAR.

BUILDING IN CAPITAL CITY

Chief of the Militia Bureau of the War Department in Letter to Adjutant Generals of States, Gives the Outline of His Proposal.

By EDWARD B. CLARK.
Washington.—For the first time in the history of this government an officer of the National Guard is on duty as chief of the militia bureau of the War department. This post always has been held by a regular army officer, but under a change in the law a National Guardsman holding a fine war record has been chosen for the place—Brig. Gen. George C. Rickards of Pennsylvania.

General Rickards has just sent a letter to the adjutant general of each state proposing the erection of a memorial building in the Capital City in memory and in appreciation of the services of the National Guardsmen of the nation.

It seems likely that in course of time there will be erected in Washington permanent memorials to the men of all services who have served the country from its foundation. The National Guard memorial is a new proposition, but already the plan has received marks of sympathy and encouragement from all parts of the country.

General Rickards in his letter to the adjutant generals gives the plan, and the reasons for its carrying out, succinctly. The letter gives the facts in the case and shows that it is a letter of personal conviction.

General Rickards' Suggestion.
The communication to the adjutant generals of the different states in part is as follows:

"From time immemorial it has been a proper and popular custom to erect monuments and buildings of one description or another in commemoration of those individuals and organizations who have rendered conspicuous service to community, state or nation.

"Memorials have been built to the soldier, sailor, statesman, scientist and inventor; to the army and its units; to the navy and its ships; to the Red Cross, the Knights of Columbus, the Salvation Army and others which have been identified with the great problems of war. Perhaps no epoch has been productive of such memorials as the present which has been actuated and accentuated by the World War and the part played in it by this nation.

"For years the National Guard struggled on in the face of many disadvantages. Its officers and men unappreciated in their efforts, making personal sacrifices without the hope or expectation of recompense, unless perhaps the emergency would arise whereby their military training and learning through these years of voluntary service might be employed to the use and advantage of their nation. Three in the ordinary lifetime of man has it been the privilege of many National Guardsmen to have volunteered their services to the federal government in a common cause, one for which every citizen should feel as deeply obligated.

Memorial Building Proposed.

"Are these services of the National Guardsmen worth commemorating? If so, how can it best be accomplished, and what would be a fitting tribute to the memory of those National Guardsmen who have voluntarily given their lives in their country's cause?

"I suggest that nothing could be more fitting or indicative of the appreciation of the services and sacrifices of those officers and men who gave their lives on these occasions than to erect in the city of Washington a monumental building sacred to their memories, a monument built by the contributions from their living

comrades or both past and present, and dedicated to the use and advancement of the National Guard.

"Within this building establish the headquarters of the National Guard, the militia bureau of the war department (so-called for the reason that our federal Constitution does not provide for the term National Guard), in which department all of the business of the National Guard is transacted. It may embrace assembly rooms for the purpose of holding meetings of the adjutants general and National Guard association meetings. It might well contain a National Guard museum, and many of the features of intense interest and value to the National Guard.

"While I have consulted no one on this project, I am sure that congress would look upon it with enough favor to provide the site for such a building, equip it for the militia bureau and under satisfactory stipulations maintain it as all other buildings of this character are maintained under federal control."

Headed for Trouble.

"What's the excitement?"
"A motorist is trying to convince a traffic policeman that he didn't break a traffic law."

"Is he making any progress?"
"Yes. He's getting closer to the police court every minute."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Baseball Notes

William McKenly, semipro ball tapper, has been signed by the Cubs.

There is nothing left of the champion Giants of 1917 except Burns and Sallee.

Barney Dreyfus is one of the leading members of the Westmoreland Golf club.

The Meusel family in baseball is united in the same city if not on the same club.

Wonder if the Galveston "Sand-crabs" got their name through a tendency to go backwards.

The Kemp, former Boston college first baseman, is to be given a trial with the Cleveland team.

Another excellent name for a ball player is Diamond, who catches for the Denver team of the Midwest league.

Jeff Tesreau, former Giant pitcher, has signed a contract to coach the Dartmouth baseball team for the next three seasons.

Tom McGuire, center fielder for Martinsburg in the Blue Ridge league, has been sold to the Rochester International league team.

Des Moines has a new second baseman answering to the name of Yuna, which sounds more like a new soft drink than the name of a ball player.

Chet Thomas, catcher, recently released by the Cleveland American league team, has signed to manage the Hartford (Conn.) Eastern league team.

Ted Jourdan, Salt Lake City first baseman, Pacific Coast league, who has been on the shelf for a month with a bad case of charley horse, is in shape to play again.

Chicago-Boston double-header in the National league on July 13 gets special mention from the fact that a total of 148 plays were made in the two games without a boot or bobble.

Gene Packard, former National league pitcher, who has been pitching independent ball in Ohio, will spend the remainder of the season working for out-of-town clubs in Missouri and Kansas.

Folks often laugh heartily when you speak of "a pitcher who can hit," but kindly note the following: Shaw, 417; Wood, 396; Ruth, 355; Hodge, 346; Uble, 308; Mays, 303; Martin, 341; Alexander, 321; Sallee, 312, and Ruether, 304.

FORMER MAJOR LEAGUE PLAYERS NOW LEADING CLASS C-D TEAMS

Glancing over the baseball directory sponsored by John H. Farrell, of the National association, one is astonished at the number of old timers whose names were once familiar in the major leagues that are managing class C and D teams somewhere in this big land.

For instance, Rudy Hulswitt is pilot of the Pawhuska team of the Western association; Josh Clarke is manager of the Coffeyville team in the Southwestern league; Tommy Leach is handling the Tampa club in the Florida league, while Joe Tinker is handling Orlando and Cy Barger St. Petersburg in the same sun-stricken circuit; Josh Devore is managing Grand Rapids in the Central circuit; Chief Bender is in charge of New Haven in the Eastern league, and Larry Cheney is boss of players at Charleston in the South Atlantic league. So the story goes.

CONSIDERABLE PART OF THE PROCEEDINGS DOUBTLESS WILL BE SECRET.

MANY WRITERS WILL ATTEND

Correspondents in Washington Making Arrangements for the Entertainment of Several Hundred American and Foreign Newspaper Men.

By EDWARD B. CLARK.
Washington.—How much will the public be allowed to know of the actual daily inner proceedings of the conference on disarmament and far East problems which is to start in Washington on Armistice day? The belief is that a considerable part of the proceedings will be secret, but it is believed also that after agreement among the conferees day by day, the main facts will be given to the press.

Many of the meetings of the conference will be open to the press and public, but as the hall in the Pan-American building which has been set aside for the use of the conference is not by any means a large one, some strict attendance regulations will be necessary.

An inside limit of 2,000 official visitors has been set by the authorities in estimating the attendance at the forthcoming conference on disarmament. This estimate takes no cognation of what may be called extraneous visitors.

Newspaper men stationed in Washington are making preparations to welcome and to look after the comfort of some three hundred of their comrades who are expected to arrive here, perhaps properly enough, on or about All Saints day from the Old World and the New. If the conferees decree that the conference is to be conducted along the "open covenants openly arrived at" plan, the newspaper men, resident and alien alone would fill the hall of confab.

English and French to Be Used.

The proceedings of the conference are to be written and printed in two languages, English and French. There will be some correspondents in Washington who speak neither of these languages, but they will get the news all the same, for that is a way they have. It is fully expected that every European country will be represented by newspaper writers, and of course Japan will have its writing representatives on the spot.

Recently in Washington there was formed an organization which is called the Overseas Writers' club. Its membership is composed entirely of present Washington correspondents who at one time or another have served their newspapers in foreign fields. It was this newly-formed organization which gave a luncheon to Lord Northcliffe on his visit to Washington. It was the club's first formal social function.

The State department has been consulting members of the National Press club, the Gridiron club, the Overseas Writers' club, and more directly than was all others, the members of the standing committee of correspondents. This committee represents the Washington correspondents who have admission to the press galleries. There are many writers of various kinds in Washington to whom admission to the galleries is denied because they do not supply telegraphic service.

The State department in a general way will look after the comfort and to some extent the amusement of all the visitors from foreign countries, but it is to be the special duty and pleasure of the newspaper men to look after their colleagues. The quarters of the National Press club are none too large, but of course every visiting writer will be given a guest card, and in addition he will be given a temporary card admitting him to the two press galleries of congress.

Entertainment of Visitors.

Many of the members of the Overseas Writers' club attended the Versailles treaty meeting, and in addition most of its members were war correspondents either in England or in France. The result is that the members know personally many of the foreign newspaper men who will come to Washington, and of course the personal acquaintance equation will help out in the problem of proper entertainment.

It is understood that only $20,000 will be given to the State department for the use for social purposes during the continuation of the conference. Inasmuch as Washington fully expects that the conferees will be here for at least six months, the sum set aside for entertainment is not a staggeringly big one, and is it believed that much more can be done in the entertaining way than that which can find expression of hospitality through one or two rather large receptions of an official nature.

The foreigners, however, will not be entirely unhappy, even if the United States does not extend its luncheon, dinner and breakfast hospitality daily. All the high officials who are to come, and presumably all the members of their staffs, are to be allowed "to bring their own with them," and therefore not one of the foreigners need go thirsty, while some native American officials will go about with their tongues hanging out and down.

WOULD REDUCE GOLF LINKS TO 12 HOLES

Englishman Advances Reasons in Article in Sphere.

Ancient Sport Could Be Made Tolerable if Course Was Cut Six Holes
—Numerous Evils of Game
Would Be Eliminated.

There is only one golfer in England whose ideas should appeal strongly to the Western Golf association, says an Eastern writer. He is A. P. Herbert, and he writes as follows in the Sphere, a British publication:

"I think that by strong measures it may still be possible to make golf a tolerable game. The chief thing is that it is frightfully complicated and frightfully laborious. The fundamental cause of this is the unfortunate fixing of 18 holes. I wonder who did that? It is six holes too long.

"It is because of these six holes that the bond-slaves have to bolt their breakfasts and miss their baths and come back late for lunch; that every one rushes around the course at a hand gallop; that every one is always either pressing some one in front or letting somebody go through behind; that every one is touchy in the morning; that every one totters exhausted into the clubhouse and takes to secret drinking before lunch. If the normal course was 12 holes these evils might disappear."

The Wise Man.

The wise man is equal, ready, but not officious; has in every thing an eye to sure-footing; he offends no body, nor is easily offended; and is always willing to compound for wrongs, if not forgive them.—William Penn
